

SPEAKER KIT

Rev. Don Du Bois Robinson

Speaker • Workshop Facilitator • Leadership Consultant

Rev. Don Du Bois Robinson brings more than 35 years of ministry experience, more than 20 years in award-winning journalism, and more than 20 years as a corporate trainer, workshop facilitator, and conference and church speaker. His work sits at the intersection of leadership, faith, history, communication, civil rights, and public life.

Speaking & Workshop Themes

- Leadership with clarity, conviction, and purpose
- Civil rights, history, and social impact
- Faith and public life
- Communication and organizational culture
- Resilience, ethics, and purpose-driven leadership

Selected Experience

Visiting lecturer in Civil Rights at the University of North Texas at Dallas and the University of Texas at Arlington; former Editor-in-Chief of the Dallas Weekly; award-winning reporter for the San Angelo Standard-Times; more than 10 years as a Senior Trainer with Wells Fargo; speaker at more than 50 churches and schools in the United States and Africa.

BOOKING

info@duboisbusinessconsultants.com

945-321-4552

duboisbusinessconsultants.com

Biography

Rev. Don Du Bois Robinson is an interim pastor at First United Methodist Church, where he brings more than 35 years of ministry experience to preaching, teaching, and congregational leadership. A weekly op-ed writer for the Dallas Morning News and Texas Metro News, he is known for a thoughtful, pastoral voice on issues of faith, justice, and public life.

Robinson is the author and editor of In My Mother's Voice. He has also completed God's Full Circle Grace and the Bible study Who Is the Church? and is writing Outside Agitator: Memoirs of Rev. Peter Johnson and Not In My Father's Shoes: Breaking the Cycle of Generational Sins.

He has served as a visiting lecturer in Civil Rights at the University of North Texas at Dallas and the University of Texas at Arlington. His journalism career includes more than 20 years as an award-winning reporter and writer, including service as Editor-in-Chief of the Dallas Weekly.

Robinson also brings more than 20 years of experience as a corporate trainer, workshop facilitator, and conference and church speaker. His background includes more than 10 years as a Senior Trainer with Wells Fargo, federal government contract work in education and training, and speaking engagements at more than 50 churches and schools in the United States and Africa.

Throughout his ministry, Robinson has served as senior pastor of two congregations and as Pastor of Christian Education in churches with memberships exceeding 5,000.

Booking Contact

info@duboisbusinessconsultants.com • 945-321-4552
duboisbusinessconsultants.com